Today marks the beginning of school in Wilmington, and many other surrounding towns. A reminder from Wilmington's Safety Officer, Sgt. John Imbimbo, that the school buses will be back on the roads starting today, and that motorists are warned to be on the lookout for them and to obey the law regarding them.

As a public service, the Crusader prints the question and answer from the Mass. Registry of Motor Vehicles booklet so that all who drive may refresh their memory on this important law.

Q: What is required of an operator when approaching and passing a school bus which has stopped to allow passengers to alight from or board the same?

A: When approaching a school bus which displays front and rear blinking lights and which has stopped to take on or discharge passengers, the law requires every operator of a motor vehicle to stop immediately before passing, no matter in which direction he is moving. Having stopped, the operator may then proceed to pass at not more than 10 miles per hour if he can do so safely. This procedure is not required if he approaches the bus from the opposite direction on the other side of a divided highway unless the bus carries a school bus sign, and blinking lights.

WATCH THOSE KIDS!

When school bells ring here, there will be more than ever, children trudging along our streets. Will they get back-and-forth to school safely?

Last year 2,650 youngsters from five years of age to 14 lost their lives in accidents on our nation's highways, warns the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Along with getting those "first day clothes" ready, every parent should consider rehearsing the children on safety rules and the best route to take to reach school in the safest possible manner.

Especially important is getting the youngster who is entering the first grade off to a good start. Guide him carefully along the route, pointing out signal lights, cross walks, and the old-fashioned but still important rule - "stop, look and listen."

At the same time, instill in the child a healthy respect for the traffic officer or school patrol, advises the Institute. If you have moved into a new neighborhood and the children are attending a new school, this "dress rehearsal" is most important. On the way, check to see that the school section has been properly posted with warning signs for motorists.

Drivers, too, should be alert at the re-opening of school. If you are living in a new place, learn to watch for areas where children wait for the school bus, the playgrounds and other places where youngsters congregate. Get to know these "slow down" spots.

If the motorist will review his driving route and parents spend a few minutes going over the basic safety rules with their children, needless tragedies may be prevented.

"Ted" Williams - The Best

Ted Williams is at it again. That's right, only let's do have a heart for the pitchers who have to put up with Ted coming to bat. Don't worry, they fear Ted more than any other player in the League, even with Mickey Mantle hitting over 380.

One reason why Ted is feared is because when he comes up to bat you don't know what he will do. He may strike out, but more likely, he will hit the ball very hard. The pitcher is in real bad trouble if Ted comes up with the bases full because the center field fence is waiting to see a sky-lark go overhead on the part of Ted Williams. Yes sir, when men are on base and Ted comes up to bat, if there is room on first, you'd better walk him or you may stand there only to see him walk around all the bases.

There is no doubt about it, Ted Williams is one of the Greatest baseball players in action today. He deserves a big hand from the fans and one way we can show our appreciation for what he does for us is to remember him on his birthday August 30, by giving to the "JIMMY FUND". We know Ted would be very happy.

Don't hesitate to send Ted a card. We know it would please him very much. Send cards to Ted Williams c/o Selling is an honorable profession, but we have all been contacted by the salesman who spends the best hours of his day in a coffee shop, when he should be out making contacts. He is the fellow who has a product that, in his estimation, is the best on the market, because the Sales Manager told him so. He carries letters of praise for his product from the customers who live in "Lower Slobovia". He has the names of ten people who have bought his product who live in the "State of Confusion". It carries the seal of Better Headaches, Inc. He will tell you that the small print on the contract is put there only to protect the customer. He will tell you he is related to a prominent citizen of the town; he will admire the picture of you on the mantle, and say it does not do you justice, but please sign right here on the dotted line.

A Winkler salesman also spends some time in the coffee shop. He knows he has the best equipment on the market, because he has been back to the customer's home after the equipment has been installed, and he is still welcome. He has been trained at the factory which is located in Lebanon, Indiana. He is a member of your community. He carries letters of endorsement from people right in town who actually own Winkler Heating Systems. He will offer to take you to customer's homes, and show you the equipment in operation, or will bring the Winkler Live Fire Demonstrator right to your home, and prove his statements of FUEL ECONOMY. He will give you a written guarantee from Stewart Warner Corp., the manufacturer. He will be here to take care of things today, tomorrow, next year, and for years to come.

ROTARY CLUB NEWS

The weekly meeting of the Rotary Club was held last Wednesday, at noon, at the Masonic Hall. President John Gleason presided, and after calling for a salute to the flag, and one verse of America, he called upon Rev. Stanley Cummings to offer the invocation.

The group consisting of 38 members and 12 guests enjoyed a fine dinner, after which singing led by Dr. Chernoff, with Roger Hayden at the piano, was enjoyed.

The president called upon Adrian Durkee, to introduce the following rotary guests: three from Winchester, one each from Stoneham, Reading, Woburn, and Needham. John Gleason introduced his guest, Bill Turner, Raymond Fitch introduced Alec Epstein, Harold Foley introduced his daughter Mary Lou, and Fred Cain introduced Myron Emerson, Ward Humphries, and Jim Logan.

Dr. Henry Foster spoke about the coming program, which are to commence next week. The programs already arranged by Dr. Foster were given to the club, and it appears that the club is going to make a good start.

The birthdays of Fred D. Cain, and Guy Nichols were celebrated with appropriate singing, and age guessing.

Secretary Stanley Cummings distributed to the members, folders containing the names of presidents and secretaries, and other important information about all the clubs in this district.

Patience is a pleasant travelling companion - helps to get you to your destination safely. Impatience may send you on a long detour through eternity.

So that you can be extra cautious in your driving during the Labor Day weekend this year, the Massachusetts Safety Council has listed the eight principal circumstances in the accidents that caused 580 deaths during the 1956 holiday. Reading them carefully now might help save your own life later.

- (2) Drinking was a factor in nearly half the accidents.
- (3) Accidents were most frequent early in the weekend.
- (4) Accidents were most frequent during evening hours.
- (5) Non-collision accidents were the most frequent type.
- (6) Eighty-two per cent of the accidents happened in rural areas.
- (7) Single driver accidents were most frequent.

EYE — DEAL VISION

Apparently I'm not the only one writing articles on eye care, and that's all to the good. We are constantly being bombarded with attempts to make us interested in one frivolous thing or another, but some how we never place enough emphasis on the most important things of all. Therefore I'm very pleased to see occasional articles on eye care in newspapers and magazines.

The Lowell Sun of August 21, had an excellent article on "Visual Training" by Dr. Conrad Berens of New York City, one of the greatest figures in eye care in America today. Dr. Berens quite correctly points out that too much of the criticism against visual training stems from the fact that too many extravagant claims have been made for it. Naturally, if we raise our hopes too high for anything, then the sharper will be our disappointment. Visual training will not cure eye diseases nor change those structural defects which lead to myopia (nearsightedness), hyperopia (farsightedness), astigmatism, etc. These last three conditions must first be corrected (not cured) by optical prescription, and then visual training can help an individual realize his maximum potential visual skill.

The August issue of Reader's Digest, has an interesting condensation of "Eye Care Up-to-Date," an article which originally appeared in Better Homes and Gardens. Being a batchelor, this writer missed the original. The article is well written and the author is to be commended for encompassing such a wide field as eye care in three pages. However, it has certain shortcomings that might be expected from a writer who is not trained in the eye field. For example the author states that presbyopia, the condition which afflicts virtually everyone in middle age, is caused by the loss of youthful muscle tone which makes it difficult for eyes to adjust from far to middle distance to near. Presbyopia is actually caused by a loss of flexibility in the crystalline lens. It has nothing to do with muscle tone. Incidentally, this condition is the main reason for wearing bifocals and trifocals.

The article is still worthy of high recommendation, and covers such topics as shatterproof glasses, sunglasses and their relations to night vision, gradient density sunglasses trifocals and bifocals, cross-eyes and other eye muscle problems, cataracts, lenticular lenses, plastic lenses, and occupational glasses.

All articles on eye care are worthy if they arouse people to take care of one of their most precious and irreplaceable assets - a pair of human eyes.

"Most important is the task of bringing home to every American an understanding that unearned wage increases serve only to fan the flames of inflation and can benefit no one in the end.

"If we are to escape these all consuming flames, each one of us must understand the nature of the wage-price spiral called inflation. For where inflation is a way of life, it's a short life and a none-too-merry one."

—Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board, United States Steel Corp.

TOBACCO ROAD AT LAKE WHATLOM

Tobacco Road, the ever popular story of lusty life in the Georgia Backwoods, dramatized from Erskine Caldwell's famous best seller novel in now in its 3rd hit week at Guy Palmerton's Whalom Playhouse, at Fitchburg.

Audience reaction has been tremendous. The rafters of the fine Summer Theatre echoed the long laughter throughout the area. Expertly staged by a full Broadway cast of professionals, the now fully accepted Sex-sational play has attracted the largest audience of the season. "Tobacco Road" will remain one of the greatest plays ever written in theatre history.

This is not the first time it has been presented at Whalom. In fact it is its third engagement. There are daring scenes of intrigue, episodes of shocking drama, interspersed with hilarious comedy.

This is the final production for the Guy Palmerton Players this season. There are choice seats for all performances and phone reservations are accepted.

Tobacco Road is a great play. You are urged not to miss it. Free parking is extended to all playgoers. Make up a theatre party and see this wonderful climax to a season of hits at the Whalom Playhouse.

Lewis Mumford, an expert on city planning, has this to say: "Either the motor car will drive us all out of our cities, or the cities will have to drive out the motor car -- not by absolute prohibition, of course, but by restrictions of size and access, favoring small cars...and penalizing such monstrosities as those fantastic and insolent chariots with which American motor car manufacturers now burden our streets and parking lots."

WHAT WE'RE UP AGAINST

"The military do have great virtues but thrift is not one." Thus spoke Senator Douglas of Illinois. He added that "The military have a built-in bias against economizing."

The Senator's remarks were made in support of a $2.5 billion cut in the defense budget that had been recommended by the House and was up for consideration in the Senate. Senator Douglas certainly did not approve this cut because he wants to weaken our defense -- he is as strong an advocate of a top quality establishment as anyone in or out of the government. But he had carefully examined the proposed defense budget in detail and had found a number of expensive items that have nothing to do with military security. He cited examples, among them swimming pools, buffet tables, and extensive remodeling of a golf course at one of the bases.

How did Senator Douglas make out? The Wall Street Journal answers that question in these words: "Well, the Senator built his case so strongly there's scarcely anything that can be added by us. One would naturally assume, too, that the other Senators after all their talk about economy would agree with Mr. Douglas. And that they would have gone along with the House in the $2.5 billion slash it had recommended in the military budget."

"But that just isn't the way the Senatorial minds work. The Senate voted to restore almost all the $2.5 billion slash. Plainly that will buy a lot of swimming pools, buffet tables and putting greens for the nation's warriors."

And that shows what the taxpayers of this country are up against, not only in the military but in all of the hundreds of spending departments of government.

SEAFARING

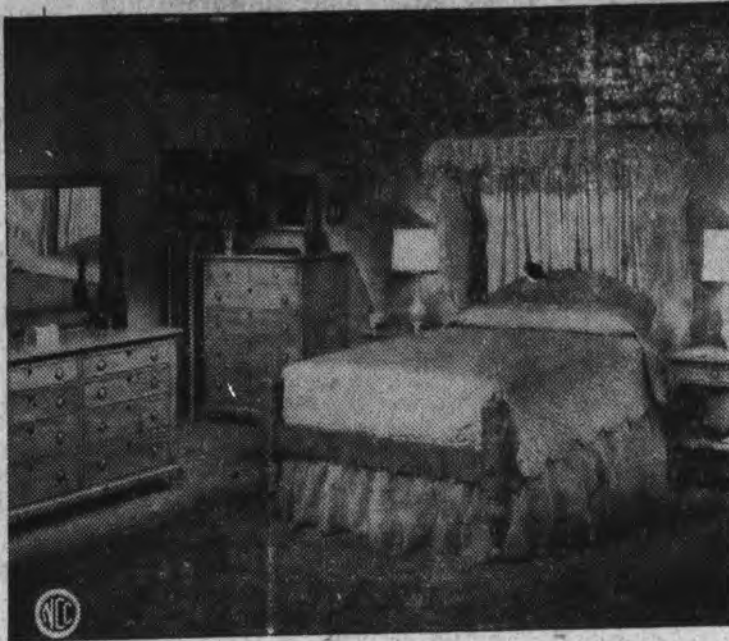

Here's a smart seafaring outfit for the miss who loves the water. This winning combination by Phil Rose of California features lined cotton knit shorts in bold red and white stripes. Overblouse of white cotton sailcloth is trimmed with matching knit.

As feminine as a party dress is this sparkling polished cotton swimsuit with laced ruffles. Shirred front and elasticized back insure a smooth, long-waisted fit. For an added pretty touch, the bow-tied ribbon encircles the bodice of this suit by Sprite.

DISTINCTIVE 18TH CENTURY

Custom-made reproductions of early 18th Century furniture are expensive, but they can be used to create distinctive rooms of unusual beauty. This is an 18th Century Bonnet bedroom suite by Craftique. Note the old-fashioned shaving stand and mirror on the high chest in the corner. Up-to-date furnishing in the room is comfortable cotton innerspring mattress on the bed.

It's the latest thing. It's the "soda break", time to cool off with a delicious hot weather drink. When the afternoon is hotter and busier than it has any right to be, treat yourself at home to a superlative soda stirred up in moments. It's a Quick Chocolate Soda, fizzing with refreshment. Made with quick cocoa powder that disperses instantly in milk, this soda has a delicious chocolate flavor you'll love in hot weather. So easy, you make the whole thing right in the glass. Quick Chocolate Sodas will be favorites with all the family for a summer "soda break."

Try it, too, with a sandwich for a light lunch. Each serving of quick cocoa powder contains vitamin D3 equal to one-half the minimum daily requirement, so this product is as good for you as it is convenient to use.

Quick Chocolate Soda

3 heaping teaspoons quick cocoa powder	Chilled sparkling water, or any favorite carbonated beverage, such as cream soda, gingerale, etc.
Small amount of milk
1 scoop vanilla ice cream

Combine quick cocoa powder and milk in a tall glass. Add vanilla ice cream. Fill slowly with chilled sparkling water or other carbonated beverage. YIELD: 1 soda.

WILMINGTON RESIDENT GUN AUTHORITY

The "Do-it-Yourself" craze has entered into many fields
but a surprise was in store for the Crusader's roving shopper the other day when she found that you can even make your own bullets.

While visiting West St's
Frank Johnson at his shop,
Hicks Sporting Goods Store,
on Princess St. in Wakefield, Mr. Johnson demonstrated the way that gun enthusiasts now refill their own casings. Using a small machine, gunpowder and new heads, the "Do-it-Yourself" fan can reload their own cartridge for about half the cost on new ones.

Mr. Johnson showed the many kinds of guns that he stocks, including revolvers, automatics, shotguns and rifles, as well as an old fashioned derringer. Brand names include Colt, Weatherby and Browning. An added service to his customers is provided by Mr. Johnson, who issues New Hampshire and Maine fishing and hunting licenses.

The shop also stocks fishing gear, with a large selection of lures and flies. Also available for the fans of another growing sport are archery supplies.

Mr. Johnson has always been interested in the outdoors and hunting. Guns were a hobby that he decided to turn into a business.
A member of the Reading Gun Club, and the Wilmington Sportsmen's Club, he is a well known sportsman of the areas.

Since Mr. Johnson is an authority in the world of guns, a visit to his shop will provide answers to your questions, and answers to your needs in sporting goods.

"Who Says You Need Costly Shots To Relieve 'Hot Flashes' And Irritation From Change-Of-Life?"

(Mrs. A. M., Watonga, Okla., adds, "Middle age was torture. Had costly shots 3 times a week but got no relief. Then took Pinkham's Tablets.
They brought me new happiness, comfort!")

Science offers women new freedom from much of the misery of change-of-life, thanks to an amazing new tablet developed especially to relieve these functionallycaused discomforts. Doctors reported sensational results using this remarkable home treatment alone...and no costly injections!

Relief for 8 out of 10 Tested!

Irritability, tortured nerves were calmed. Dizziness relieved. Awful hot flashes subsided. Here's why.
Unlike aspirin and such "general purpose" remedies, this new tablet is a unique combination of special medicines...acts directly on the cause of these troubles...works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve tense feelings and physical distress that bring unhappiness to so many.

Clinical tests prove this.

Now this amazing formula is at drugstores without prescription.
Ask for "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets". Don't let change-of-life rob you of joy! Get handy Pinkham's Tablets. Contain blood-building iron. See how fast you can feel your happy self again - without costly shots! (Also liquid Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

As My Garden Sleeps

By Mari Gold

Now that September is having its turn on our calendars, we must get every minute of enjoyment out of our gardens, as this is truly the month when we may expect a visit from Jack Frost. Sometimes he arrives on the scene early, but last year he was late. Let's hope something will hold up his visit again this year.

Now that you have had the experience of the past summer, were you satisfied with it? I am not, of course considering the weather. Did you feel that you had enough color in your gardens? Did you have too much? Did what colors you did have clash with each other? Now is the time, shortly before frost to take a look around and to make notes on paper. List "do's" and "don'ts" for the summer of 58.

This will also apply to the vegetable garden. Did you have too many of one vegetable and not enough of another? These are the notes you should jot down for references next spring when planting time rolls around again.

Even with occasional rain, you must remember that the soil will dry out very quickly now. Watch that your propagating beds and newly planted or transplanted items are kept moist.

For those who care for very late flowers in their gardens: One of the best known perennials is Aconitum. Monkshoods is its common name. This is a plant of tall spikes. There are three species of this flower. One grows six feet tall, but this is the early type. The one for the fall garden is a fischeri. This one grows only to three feet and in October, will display lovely blue blossoms. Aconitums are planted among shrubs and in borders, especially in combinations with Modenna Lillies, White Phlox and Shasta Daisies. Most of the varieties are valuable for filling in vacant spots in the garden, where earlier blooming plants have passed. They are excellent for naturalizing in a woods or wild garden.

But - Their roots are poisonous. One should be careful to avoid planting them near the vegetable garden or where children could get them. The roots of this plant could be mistaken for a vegetable plant by the inexperienced gardener or by a child. The effect of the glossy leaves is very striking, especially on the fischeri. The flowers are rather showy. They are shaped like a helmet of hood from which grew the common name "Monkshood".

I did not get around town much this week as I was laid-up with the gripe for a few days. I will try to mention a few more gardens which anyone may see when driving past them.

A fine impression will come to those either coming into or leaving Wilmington, via Lowell St., by the garden on the Anderson property. This garden is excellently arranged and the bright and cheerful colors display all the fine points which come with constant, loving care. Further into Wilmington along Lowell St., there is still another most attractive spot. Across from Strout Ave. Mr. Branscomb has a beautiful garden over on Main St. I will try this week to get off the beaten path as there are many fine gardens on our side streets as well. If these gardeners were entering exhibits in our local fair, there would really be some stiff competition.

For floral arrangements . . . A. Angle, B. Balance, C. Color. These thoughts will turn the job into a joy, not a job. Under article R. Each stem should be arranged so all flowers appear to originate from one central point. This point should be directly below the highest part of the design.

B. Balance is a must, large flowers should be near the center, smaller ones at the top and sides. As a rule, the largest flower stems should be one and one half times longer than the longest dimension of the vase, whether it be height or width.

C. Color must be considered too in selecting your flower container. If you are using a mixed bouquet, select a vase of bowl of a solid color, or if possible use a color that you have in the bouquet. Shape is secondary in interest. Curves must be strong and definite. Bold and vivid contrast, strong graceful lines always win over a fussy attempt at prettiness.

All nature has taught man to expect an appearance of stability at the base. A tree or shrub is heavier at the base, and a flower arrangement must be also.

FINED $100.

Police arrested Marshall W. Kane of Billerica on Sat., August 24, at approximately 11:20 p.m., on three definite charges. The first, drunkenness, the second, driving under the influence of liquor and finally, for driving after his right to operate, had been suspended.

His case was continued until Monday, August 26, and he was released under $300.00 bail.

On Monday morning, at Woburn Court, Mr. Kane pleaded guilty to all charges. The drunkenness charge was placed on file. He was fined $50.00 for driving under the influence of liquor, and another $50.00 for driving after his right to operate had been suspended.

Officers Markey and Ritchie prosecuted the case.

SELECTMAN BOCKO AGAINST STATE'S DISABILITY PENSION SYSTEM

BOSTON—The Massachusetts Selectmen's Association announced its intention to support the fight against an abuse of the State's Disability Pension System. For the second straight year they pledged their support to the
"Massachusetts Citizens' Committee" in its efforts to bring an end to the annual waste of 6 million dollars in the Disability Pension racket.

The Legislature has refused to approve this curb on Disability Pension abuses and therefore the "Massachusetts Citizens' Committee" must obtain 100,000 signatures in order to place this issue before the people.

The drive for signatures will begin on September 4th and conclude on November 4th. Each day more and more people have expressed their approval and volunteered their services for this drive. The support of the Selectmen's Association is further evidence of the need for this reform.

Stanley J. Bocko, local Selectman, recently stated that he is in favor of such action.

If you get an uneasy feeling that the fellow ahead is glaring at you through his rear-view mirror, you know that you're following too close.

The use of aircraft in direct support of ground units
by the Marine Corps was employed for the first time
in combat July 19, 1927,
when a flight of six bombing planes strafed and bomb-

who unsuccessfully attacked
a small Marine garrison at

THE LIONS ROAR

This weeks meeting was a cook-out meeting at the home of Mrs. Dewing on Federal Street and a goodly number of the Boys were present. A very tasty supper was enjoyed by all. Being a business meeting, the various Committess gave their reports, one of which was the report of the entertainment committee. Their report stated that the social and ladies night planned for this coming Sat. night, Aug 31, is complete even to a band, and should by all means be a very enjoyable one. Jim McCue of the committee also stated that guest speaker for the next meeting was to be Sgt. John Imbimbo, Juvenile Officer of our local police dept., his topic will be on safety and also a question and answer period. That man was there again with the gun and this time I saw Dentyne, I don't know where he gets the samples, but I for one would like to see some Beechnut for a change, what say, can you oblige ? ?

Nicky spoke on the Gas Station Day on Sat. and asked for the volunteers who were going to show up. The response was great, so if you would like to help the Lions Charity and also see some of your friends, stop in to Bill and Mels on Saturday and let them wait on you. I am given to understand that there will be many useful articles that go as an accessory for the average car-owner that will be priced right for that one day only.

Two new members were welcomed into the Club at this meeting. They are Eddy Gustus and Wes Ryan, we're glad to have you with us, gentlemen, and hope that you will get the same grand feeling that we all have, knowing you are a Lion, and one of us.

Attention Bob McCabe, "Kid Furious", would like to know from you the purpose for the king size foot basin that you had constructed in your front yard. He seems to think that it would make you "simply Furious" to ask for an explanation of it.

Tony Donut's Country Style Donut Shop will be the scene of great activity on Nov.11, when the Lions take over for the day. He even has gone so far as to give the help a day off. Hope you have made arrangements for your ball tickets for the time of your life to be held at the Andover Country Club. All reports seem to indicate that there will be a gratifying crowd gathering on Oct. 18. You can contact any Lion and he will be able to fill your order this year as the Club has been remodeled and can accommodate a greater crowd. If you haven't already done so why not do it now?

The house committee has stated that the meeting beginning the 4th of Sept., will be held at the Silver Lake Betterment Hall.

In case any of you think you are seeing things, in the form of a full size lion roaming around town on Sat., don't be too alarmed as it will only be Bermuda Ed. The only fear we have is that he may end up down at the Stoneham Zoo.

Wonder where Pete is keeping himself?

Wonder who it is that gets Simply Furious,

Wonder where Ed P. gets his hair cut

Wonder what happened to J.H.A. he couldn't speak.

Wonder if Art is going to lose his vacation weight?

The Calendar of events to remember is as follows: Oct. 18, 1957, Lions Ball, Andover Country Club; Nov. 11, Donut Day, Country Style Shop, Main St.; Sept. 4, Meeting, Silver Lake Betterment Hall.

Well so much for now and until next week, when I'll be talking to you again. Remember for the Time of Your Life, make it the Lions Ball.

By the time you read this column the schools in Town will once again be in session. We would like to again remind you that the children going to and from school are entitled to a lot of consideration from you, Mr. John Motorist, the same consideration you would like everyone else to extend to your child. The Women Traffic Supervisors are placed at most dangerous crossovers and can be as duty minded as well as gracious and attractive. They are there to protect your child and mine, so let's give them our utmost cooperation.

Two of the boys are still on vacation, and Bill Nee is the next one scheduled to go on his. Vern Randall and Earl Burns are asked to take note, that they have charge of the refreshments for the Sept. 10, meeting of the Association, to be held at the station. Still no word on the new appointment of "Louie" for the dept.

To enlighten the interested party of the other local paper who spoke of the painting here at the Station,

SCHOOL BELLS — AND BOXES

Wilmington's school children went back to school today. Perky plaid skirts, fresh corduroys, new shoes, pencil boxes, and lunch boxes, all the familiar signs of back-to-school were present at the bus stops around town.

But for wise planning, and many a stirring speech on the floor of the town meeting, there might not be any lunch boxes on the busses.

A town without lunch boxes is a town on half session, and a town on half session is an unhappy town. Wilmington has escaped that fate through the efforts of those who are responsible for the welfare of our children. Fighting the "penny-pinchers" who can find money for any new gadget that is needed at town hall, the guardians of the education of our children have succeeded in keeping the children on a full session schedule, and barring delay in building the Glen Road School, they should have no trouble in the future.

The three month period that means a vacation for the children, is not one for the school department. From the Superintendent's office, where John Collins wades through a mountain of applications, the vast majority proving unsatisfactory, to find the correct calibre of teachers for the school rooms; to the staff of custodians who have every building shining in readiness for the surge of youngsters due today.

Mr. Collins, the School Committee, the Additional School Accommodations Committee and the various committee who supervise, as a civic duty, the building of the schools, are all to be commended for their year round efforts in providing good schools, and enough of them, for our children.

AGAINST PENSION GRAB

BOSTON, Senator Philip A. Graham (R-Hamilton) today launched a statewide drive to obtain 100,000 signatures for a referendum to curb the "disgraceful mulcting of millions of dollars annually by flagrant abuse of the disability pension law, which, unless curbed, may well threaten the stability of the entire pension system within a few years.

Senator Graham, a long-time foe of the pension grab-bag, introduced the newly formed Massachusetts Citizens Committee at a State House press conference with the comment that "this is not a marching and chowder club."

"This Committee has undertaken the most difficult program ever tackled by a non-partisan group, namely, the gathering of 100,000 signatures of registered voters to support House Bill-1022 which is going to be offered to the people in the form of an initiative petition," Senator Graham explained.

House Bill 1022 by Rep. Charles H. Anthony of Haverhill and Sen. Philip A. Graham provides for the annual adjustment of pensions and retirement allowances payable to persons engaged in gainful occupation after retirement for disability.

"While there are many worthwhile organizations and luncheon clubs doing fine jobs in bringing about needed reforms in state gov't., this group called The Massachusetts Citizens Committee has been organized to do something about it. We are eliminating the rubber-chicken circuit, cocktail parties and costly administrative programs. In lieu of the usual approach to reforms in State government, we are going to ask the citizens of this Commonwealth to join us in a good old-fashioned house cleaning."

"Membership in the Massachusetts Citizens Committee is open to any person who feels that this is the time for action; not moss-covered political cliches and pious platitudes from pressure groups. It doesn't cost anything to belong. All one has to do is write or phone for a signature sheet & promise to get bona fide registered voters to sign our petition to correct disability pension abuses," Graham said.

Massachusetts Citizens Committee headquarters are Room 936, 50 Congress Street, Boston 9, Mass. Senator Graham introduced Donald O'Callaghan of Marblehead as temporary chairman. Other members included James C. McManaway, Jr., of Ipswich, Miss Alice L. Hayes of Pembroke, Nell Rice Ayer of Hamilton, J. Malcom Whitney of Watertown, Gilbert L. Steward, Jr., of Topsfield, Allan A. Davidson of Brookline, George A. Moore of Swampscott, William H. Hanifey of Marblehead. "This group forms the nucleus for some 2000 members throughout the State," Senator Graham explained.

"The immediate objective of this Committee is to obtain 100,000 certified signatures in two and one-half months from September 15 to December 1, 1957," Donald O'Callaghan, temporary chairman, said. "To accomplish this feat (which has never been done before in the history of the State) we expect to get the assistance of existing organizations and every person who believes in decent government."

Flagrant abuse of the disability pension law has been under constant attack by Senator Graham for nearly four years. He pointed out that under the present system a state employee retiring for disability may draw a pension equal to two-thirds of his salary at the time of his retirement. At the same time, he may earn any amount of additional income. Meanwhile, his pension income is tax free. This bonanza is now encouraging many persons to retire on disability pensions after relatively short service rather than putting in full time and then going out superannuation. In some circles, it is reported, that employees who stay at their jobs as long as physically possible and then accept the standard pension offered by the state are regarded by their association as "suckers."

"The gravy train is costing Massachusetts taxpayers more than six million dollars annually. Comparative figures with retirement in N.Y. City Police force from 1953 to 1955 averaged 13% on disability. In Boston, Policemen retired on disability pensions averaged 96%."

"The startling difference between Boston and New York City police retirements on disability pensions demands correction. Other flagrant abuses of the disability pension include the judge who was 'too deaf' to continue on the bench. He was retired on a pension of $120 a week. Overnight he became a prosperous trial lawyer."

Then there's the story of the fireman who retired on a pension because he couldn't climb ladders. He later went to work as a painter at the Charlestown Navy Yard climbing all sorts of scaffolding.

A former State Commissioner of Administration and Finance quit because of poor health. He supplemented his disability pension income of $100 a week by building a lucrative law practice.

Even members of the State Legislature are on the gravy train. A few members are collecting disability pensions in addition to their salaries as legislators.

"Everybody agrees that something has to be done about this 'horrible mess' before our pension system is threatened by greedy parasites who flagrantly abuse the practice with little or no regard for the consequences. The spiralling cost of this present system seriously affects the status of every honest employee. How long will the public stand for this million dollar butchering? The voice of the people shall be heard before December 1, 1957, the deadline for 100,000 signatures needed to place the Graham Bill on referendum at the 1956 elections," Neil Rice Ayer said.

Because abuses of the disability pension system have been permitted to mushroom unhampered by organizations and legislators who feared pressure groups it now requires the signature of 100,000 citizens to correct this disgraceful condition.
